

OneRen
Gender Pay Gap Report
April 2021

Introduction

Gender pay reporting legislation requires UK employers with 250 or more employees to publish statutory calculations every year showing how large the pay gap is between their male and female employees. The calculations within this report are based on a snapshot date of 5th April 2021.

ONEREN, the trading name of 'Renfrewshire Leisure' is publishing this data for the third year in response to our responsibilities under 'The Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017'. As outlined in the legislation the Gender Pay Gap Reporting data and narrative are published on the government website and also our own website.

At the snapshot date, OneRen employed 439 members of staff, 181 were Male and 258 were Female.

The gender pay gap is the difference between the average pay expressed as both the mean and median of men and women expressed as a percentage.

Gender pay reporting is different to equal pay. Equal pay deals with the differences between men and women who carry out the same jobs, similar jobs or work of equal value. It is unlawful to pay people unequally because of their gender.

OneRen is committed to recruiting the right candidate for each position regardless of gender or any other protected characteristic. We consider the Gender Pay Gap Reporting as a positive exercise which can only assist all companies in achieving equality across genders in the workplace.

What Employers Have to Report

Calculating the gender pay gap involves carrying out six calculations that show the difference between the average earnings of men and women across the Company. The six calculations must show a Company's:

- Average gender pay gap as a mean average
- Average gender pay gap as a median average
- Average bonus gender pay gap as a mean average
- Average bonus gender pay gap as a median average

- Proportion of males receiving a bonus payment and proportion of females receiving a bonus payment.
- Proportion of males and females when divided into four groups ordered from lowest to highest pay.

Gender Pay Gap Figures for OneRen

The figures are based on 439 contracted employees.

The table below shows the Mean and Median gender pay gap at the snapshot date of 5st April 2021 for OneRen:

The median average is calculated by finding the midpoint in all employees' hourly pay therefore, half of the employees' earnings will be above the midpoint and half will be below the midpoint.

The mean average is calculated by adding all employees' rates of pay together and dividing by the total number of employees. The mean includes the lowest and highest rates of pay.

Difference between men and women within OneRen
	Mean	Median
Difference in pay	-2.62%	-8.82%

Mean

-2.62%

When comparing mean (average) hourly pay, women's mean hourly pay is 2.62% higher than men's.

Median

-8.82%

When comparing median (mid point) hourly pay, women's median hourly pay is 8.82% higher than men's.

The negative percentage indicates that the results are in the favour of female employees.

Women earn £1.02 for every £1 that men earn when comparing median hourly wages.

Our gap is not an equal pay issue, men and women are paid equally for doing equivalent jobs across OneRen.

At OneRen women are paid more (mean and median) than men. Within the Company, the majority of Senior Leadership Team (SLT) are female, which is testament to the equal opportunities available within OneRen. Typically, people in more senior positions receive the highest pay which impacts on the hourly pay.

If we remove our Senior Leadership Team from the calculations, we would see a reduction in the mean pay gap by 1.06%, taking the figure to -8.82%. Our median gap would remain the same.

Difference between men and women (excluding SLT)
	Mean	Median

OneRen does not pay bonuses, therefore questions in this regard are not applicable.

Conclusion and Addressing our Gender Pay Gap

The results once again, demonstrate that equal opportunities exist for men and women when recruiting and promoting employees within OneRen. It is clear that calculating these figures is a valuable exercise and we are committed to regularly reviewing our HR policies and procedures to support our staff. It is embedded within our culture to recruit and develop all staff regardless of ethnicity, gender, age, disability, religion or sexual orientation.

As a seven-day week operation, opening from early until late, OneRen is able to promote flexible work opportunities which include full time, part time and casual hours. A variety of shift patterns are available within facilities which can include daytime, evening or weekend work as well as compressed hours or shorter shifts for those with additional commitments outside of the working environment. Both male and female employees are encouraged to take advantage of arrangements which enable them to fulfil caring responsibilities which include maternity and paternity leave, shared parental leave, unpaid leave and flexible working and a clear and consistent policy is in place and available for reference. Support is also given to those returning to work from caring duties.

In 2021/2022 OneRen will continue implementation of our planned service re-design to ensure the company can deliver its vision and future priorities. A part of this process will involve evaluation of all jobs. This means that each job role will be evaluated and graded objectively, irrespective of the gender of the post holder. OneRen operates a pay structure on a banded scale which includes incremental increases which are consistently linked to length of service rather than gender.

OneRen is committed to identifying from within our current workforce those employees who have the potential to grow and develop within the company and, where appropriate, will provide extra support to under-represented groups to help us achieve a more appropriate balance in the future.

Producing this gender pay gap report aids the monitoring and we, at OneRen, are committed to ensuring the gender pay gap is closed. Our aim is to ensure that there is a good balance of males and females working across levels and functions and will continue to be proactive in encouraging everyone, regardless of gender to pursue any role.
